

The Journey of a Healer

Opportunities to give real service through White Eagle's Healing Work

Welcome to the fulfilling journey of a healer!

We all have the potential to be healers in the truest spiritual sense, because we all have the divine or Christ light within our being, and can train ourselves to be clear channels for this light and love to shine into the material world. We can learn how to draw on the unlimited source of God's love and light to heal ourselves and change our lives, to help others and to send healing to the whole world.

Taking part in the White Eagle healing work is an opportunity open to all members. Be it sitting on a distant healing group, working from home as a lone healer, or being present and working with a patient as a contact healer.

Within distant healing, there are three different aspects of this work in which you can join; healing for humans, for animals and healing of the Earth, the environment and our relationship with it.

Involvement in White Eagle's healing work is an unselfconscious path of spiritual unfoldment as well as a genuine spiritual service. It is a path of growth and learning through your own spiritual experience rather than through the words of others.

We know that White Eagle invites anyone who feels a sincere connection with his teaching to join what we like to think of as a brotherhood of healers on the inner planes.

This leaflet walks you briefly through the aspects of White Eagle's healing work, what is involved and what your simple commitment would be in joining in. Although this leaflet concerns the healing work for members, you are also warmly invited to join a distant healing group meeting physically in any part of the country as a member or a non-member.

Please use the form at the back of this leaflet to request more information.

Joining a Distant Healing Group

If you live near a regional distant healing group you can apply to join and learn to send out colour healing rays to a list of patients. To sit on a distant healing group, you do not need to be a member of the White Eagle Lodge. All you need to bring to the group is the feeling of harmony with the work and to be willing to attend weekly when the group meetings

Many people who start their healing work within a distant healing group, can then feel they want to take the next step by becoming a member and continuing on their journey as lone healer. This may also progress to applying to become a contact healer.

Healing for the Earth

Under White Eagle's guidance we have developed an aspect of the healing work for Mother Earth and the world of nature with all its elements—the world of which we are all a part and on which we depend for our physical life. The inspiration from White Eagle we follow is that as well as the outer work any one of us may do to protect and heal the environment, we can also all be 'star activists' at the inner level and truly make a difference at this time of global challenge and climate change.

The service of attunement and meditation begins by acknowledging our energetic connection, both with Mother Earth, the world of nature, and with the wider life of the spirit. From this basis we seek to work with the angels who are so truly the inner life behind the outward forms of nature. We seek to build a bridge of connection which will both serve them and bring positive change to human attitudes and unhelpful and damaging ways of life.

As part of the service we invoke the angels of the elements of earth, air, fire and water, conscious of what these elements mean as part of our own being, as well as the natural world.

You are welcome to attend an Earth healing service if you are near to one of our White Eagle centres, or if a member, you can also take this service at home as a lone healer.

Lone Healing for Animal Patients

The animal lone healing work is similar to that for human patients. A list of individual animals is called at the heart of the service with a simple colour ray treatment for each. If you feel a particular connection with the animal kingdom, there can be a special tenderness and vibrancy about this work for you, as many of our animal healers testify.

Animals seem particularly receptive to spiritual healing (this could be because they do not carry the complex human social and mental structures which can interfere!). This is particularly heart-centred work. Its basis is the complete respect for the sentience of all animals—an acknowledgement that in their individual manner they both feel and think—and an ideal of the brotherhood of all life. In doing this work we are actually not only serving individual animal patients but also helping to bring changes in attitude and behaviour towards the whole animal kingdom. We are working to remove cruelty.

Lone Healing for Human Patients

When White Eagle asked for the distant healing work to be developed, right at the time the Lodge was established, this was based on groups, ideally of six or more sitters, who would meet weekly. These distant healing groups today are a core part of the work of any White Eagle Lodge or Centre.

The lone healing work is exactly the same except that you can do it in the comfort of your own home. We ensure each list of patients is supported by a number of healers who are connected at an inner level. There are now over 500 members in the UK alone taking part in this beautiful form of service.

As with all our healing work for individuals, each patient is prescribed a treatment with colour rays. As a healer you are asked to project from the place of inner quiet which White Eagle calls ‘the mind in the heart’. The words of the lone healing service are designed to help us work from this sacred place within. Through attuning to the spiritual Sun, the divine power flows through us from the unconditional love of God through to the patient.

The path of a lone healer is also one of attunement to the angels of healing, building a bridge through a faithful weekly commitment.

Becoming a White Eagle Contact Healer

We ask that you have been a White Eagle distant healer, working with human patients and colour rays consistently for a year. Recommendation should come from either a regional centre leader or a contact healing supervisor. Further training is given in special courses at the Temple or the healer’s own local Lodge. This is followed by a probationary period before further assessment and registration as a White Eagle healer. The standards set out by the organisation ‘UK Healers’ are followed in the training of healers and the treatment of patients.

Next Steps...

You can apply to join a regional distant healing group if there is one nearby. As a member, you may wish to become a lone healer. Here is what to expect:

Your commitment as a lone healer

1. We warmly encourage new members to start Earth healing immediately.
2. If you have been a member for 3 months or more, you can choose to become a distant healer for animals or humans - or both.
3. You will be asked to sign an application form consenting to keep any lists of patients and the White Eagle service sheet completely confidential and stored in a safe and secure place.
4. We will ask you to set aside a time each week (of your choosing) for your healing work. The Earth attunement service takes 15-20 minutes. The animal or human service including colour prescriptions takes 30-40 minutes.

Our commitment to you

1. On becoming a lone healer, we will send you a folder with a service of attunement and supportive information and comprehensive guidance.
2. If you are a lone healer for animals or humans, you will be sent a list of patients with individual colour treatments prescribed by the Healing Office at New Lands. If a patient's circumstances change, they withdraw or a new patient is added, you will be updated.
3. Every 4 months you will receive a progress report for each of your patients and a healing newsletter.
4. We will support you in your work in any way we can. We are happy for any lone healer to contact the healing department at New Lands for help and advice.
